

Weekly Bulletin Friday 5th February 2021

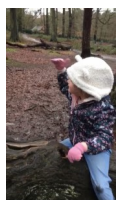

Dress to Express

In School and at home, everyone at WPS loved taking part in the Dress to Express day on Thursday. As part of the Express Yourself theme for this year's Children's Mental Health Week, we enjoyed wearing something that we love.

RSPB Garden Bird Watch

As a follow on from children's Science lessons last week where they got to see a variety of birds such as blue tits, goldfinches, house sparrows, great tits and a woodpecker, many children continued their learning and took part in the RSPB's Garden Bird Watch over the weekend. Some of our WPS bird watchers and their work are featured below.

Daffodil Initiative

Thanks to everyone for continuing to take part in our initiative to show support for the NHS and key workers by sending us your photographs of daffodils in your windows at home as well as children's art work featuring these symbols of hope, strength and resilience. Contributions this week from Mackenzie P2, Kyle P4, Holly P5, Freddie KG, Thomas P3, Oliver P6 and James P1.

~ ~ Prep 4 Fact of the Week ~ ~

A koala bear's fingerprints are so indistinguishable from a human's they've even been confused in police investigations!

Congratulations to this week's

Stars of the Week!

Our staff would still like to celebrate their Stars of the Week while we are managing learning online and teaching in School

Rec: Eric for making a fantastic treasure map and following the directions brilliantly. Well done, Eric.

P1: Ntembe for a beautifully presented, thoughtful and spontaneous poem about differences.

P2: Inaya for super persuasive writing. She has a vivid information and put this to excellent use in her English work this week!

P3: Ed for trying his best to add detail in his English work and improve his presentation in his Mathematics.

P4: Oscar for always keenly contributing during lessons and putting very good effort into his school work.

P5: Ruby for her excellent commitment and engagement in all Zoom lessons and returning all her work on time.

P6: Isabella for her superb enthusiasm and engagement in our work on life for apprentices at Quarry Bank Mill.

Many Happy Returns to all the children who are celebrating their birthday this week.

William P1

A Message from the Parents' Committee

Don't forget to join in the February Half Term Matchbox Challenge. Please see our Parentmail sent on Tuesday 2nd February for further details of how to enter.